Terms of Use for Statewide Database Licensing Program (SDLP) Resources

The State Library of Oregon (the “State Library”) is pleased to make available to your library and its patrons (“Authorized Users”) the following electronic content and resources through the Statewide Database Licensing Program: (a) LearningExpress Library (“Tutorial and Testing Content”) and (b) electronic databases (“Database Content”) (the Tutorial and Testing Content and the Database Content, together, “Licensed Content”). The Tutorial and Testing Content is provided by EBSCO, and the Database Content is provided by Gale/Cengage Learning, Inc. (collectively, “Vendor”), each under the terms and conditions of a contract with the State Library (collectively, “Vendor Terms”). The Vendor Terms, together with any additional restrictions or limitations on access to or use of the Licensed Content imposed by the State Library, are summarized below (“Terms of Use”). Your library must comply with the Terms of Use and make reasonable efforts to inform your library’s patrons of, and require them to comply with, the Terms of Use. In addition, your library must make reasonable efforts to limit access to the Licensed Content to Authorized Users. The State Library may modify these Terms of Use by written notice to you, and your library’s continued use of the Licensed Content constitutes your agreement to comply, and to require your library’s patrons to comply, with the modified terms. The State Library may terminate your library’s access, and the access of your library’s patrons, to the Licensed Content, upon written notice to you, for one or more of the following reasons: (1) you or your patrons violate the Terms of Use, (2) the State Library no longer has the right to grant access to the Licensed Content to your library or its patrons as described in these Terms of Use, or (3) termination is otherwise in the State of Oregon’s interest. Upon termination of access, your library must cooperate with the State Library in ending access to the Licensed Content, including removal of any locally mounted Licensed Content.

In general, Authorized Users may utilize web browsers or, as necessary, the Vendor-provided software to access (via telecommunications, network, or Web-based connections) and use, on a non-exclusive basis, the Licensed Content for educational and personal non-commercial purposes. Such use of the Tutorial and Testing Content may include downloading, displaying, viewing, printing, and/or making limited paper copies of tutorial or educational content. Such use of the Database Content may include downloading, displaying, viewing, printing, and/or making limited paper or electronic copies of citations, abstracts, full text or portions thereof. Under no circumstances may an Authorized User use the Licensed Content as a component of, or a basis for, a directory, database, or other publication prepared for sale, exchange, barter, transfer, rent, lease, or loan, resell the Licensed Content for profit, or distribute, alter or in any other manner commercially exploit the Licensed Consent or any data or documentation received from the Licensed Content. Your library should coordinate with Vendor to establish appropriate user authentication mechanisms. The State Library makes the Licensed Content available on an “as is” and “as available” basis without any representations or warranties.

Your library may permit Authorized Users to access the Licensed Content remotely, from home or another location, if your library undertakes proper security procedures to prevent remote access by unauthorized users. Your library shall notify the State Library if it becomes aware of any of the following: (a) any loss or theft of password(s) used to access the Licensed Content; (b) any unauthorized use of password(s) used to access the Licensed Content; or (c) any breach by an Authorized User of these Terms of Use. Upon becoming aware of any unauthorized use of the Licensed Content, your library agrees to notify and work with the State Library to correct such practices.

Authorized Users may use the Licensed Content in digital reference services without restriction, as long as the use is not for commercial gain and the text is transmitted through links to the existing interface or PDFs/emails originally generated using the Licensed Content.

Authorized Users may incorporate parts of the Licensed Content in electronic course packs and electronic reserve collections and distribute (which, for purposes of these Terms of Use, shall not be considered commercial sale or distribution) to libraries for their use in connection with classroom instruction and in reserves (print or digital) set up by libraries for access in connection with specific courses. Copies of items in digital form included in online course packs or reserves must be deleted after the end of the term in which the related course concludes. Each such item shall carry appropriate acknowledgement of the source, listing title and author of the extract, title and author of the work and the publisher. Course packs and reserves in non-electronic non-print perceptible form, such as audio or Braille, may also be offered to visually impaired Authorized Users. Authorized Users must delete or destroy all copies of such items when they are no longer used for such purpose.

Your library may use the Licensed Content for the purpose of fulfilling Interlibrary Loan requests in accordance with the Interlibrary Loan provision of section 108 of the US Copyright Law and the CONTU Guidelines.

Your library may provide electronic links to the Licensed Content from its web page(s).

Authorized Users may make a single copy (in print or digital form) of minimal, insubstantial portions of the Licensed Content for non-commercial, personal, scholarly or educational use, or scientific research and may transmit to another person (in print or digital form) minimal, insubstantial portions of the Licensed Content for personal, scholarly or educational use, or scientific research. But in no event may any Licensed Content be used or transmitted for commercial purposes. In addition, Authorized Users may, with appropriate attribution to Vendor, use figures, tables and brief excerpts from the Licensed Content in the Authorized User's own scientific, scholarly and educational works.

For your information, the contracts between the State Library and Vendor, which contain the full set of Vendor Terms, can be found at the Statewide Database Licensing Program Website: https://libguides.osl.state.or.us/SDLP_FAQ